A message from Mrs. Scholz

We were SO lucky with the weather for our photo shoot on Tuesday. The sun shone all afternoon and the photographer was able to take some really beautiful shots. He even brought his drone and flew it over school to get an aerial view. We are really excited to show you the results in a few weeks.

Willow Class were really lucky to be able to spend an afternoon with a visiting artist on Wednesday—Will from Chickenwired Sculpture. He showed us how to make our own mice sculptures and created a penguin and a cat for us.

We learnt how to use wire cutters safely and Will was really impressed with our Creativity!

News from our Classes

Bluebell Class

Bluebells have been showing off their knowledge and learning this week across all our subjects. They have amazed us with their independent maths skills, reading and comprehension. They have created some amazing healthy eating posters linked to our DT topic and designed their own quizzes on scratch junior using the skills we learnt last week. In science, early years continued to think about why different animals have different homes and described what these are like. Key stage one learnt about food chains and how without plants, animals wouldn't be able to survive. We have also found out about the celebration of Eid where we enjoyed food tasting and finding out why this is an important occasion for the religion of Islam.

Willow Class

This week in Willow Class, we have made a fact-file all about the Anglo-Saxons. We were able to write about all the things we have learnt about them, including jobs, Sutton Hoo, hierarchy and settlements. Some of us added amazing pictures and titles to add to the piece of work. On Wednesday afternoon, we had Will from Chickenwired visit us and he taught us how to make sculptures out of chicken wire. There were some amazing birds and mice. He gave us a penguin and cat for our class. On Thursday, some year 3s and 4s went to play table tennis at Garstang High School—hey really enjoyed themselves.

Lead Learners

Bluebell Class – Reggie for absolutely blowing us away with his effort and independent learning this week.
